CRONUS

Mr. Simpson,

Well, here's the '70 Cronus! Sometimes it looked as though we might not be getting them. There's so much to say & don't think I'll be able to say it. Thank you, that's the best way I know. Thank you for standing behind us always being ready to settle a crisis, for understanding when the going got rough around the eleventh of February and then again around the twentieth of May, thank you for helping in so many ways. You'll never know the confidence it gave me to know that somebody up in that office was backing me 100%. Thank you again, and God bless you.

Love,
Susan Willis

The changing times was the beat that the 1969-70 school year kept in step with. With the opening of school, West began its first year in operation under the new constitution. An experiment involving a double-period schedule brought another change of the year. Titans and faculty alike adjusted by using the extra time for beneficial field trips and labs. Along with the changes in operation, there was a change evident in the students themselves - a rising student interest exemplified by the formation of new interest groups.

The embarkment into a new decade - the 70's - crested the wave of change. At the beginning of the second semester, there was a change in faculty to attain the required ratio of blacks to whites. The changes came, and West adjusted.

Change is important - necessary. It gives some growing room. The changes of the '69-70 school year offered the Titans this room. They accepted it and grew through the adjustment.

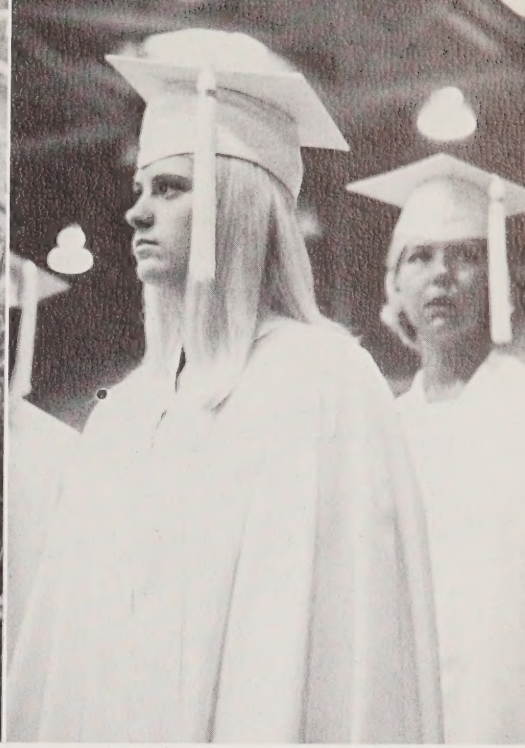
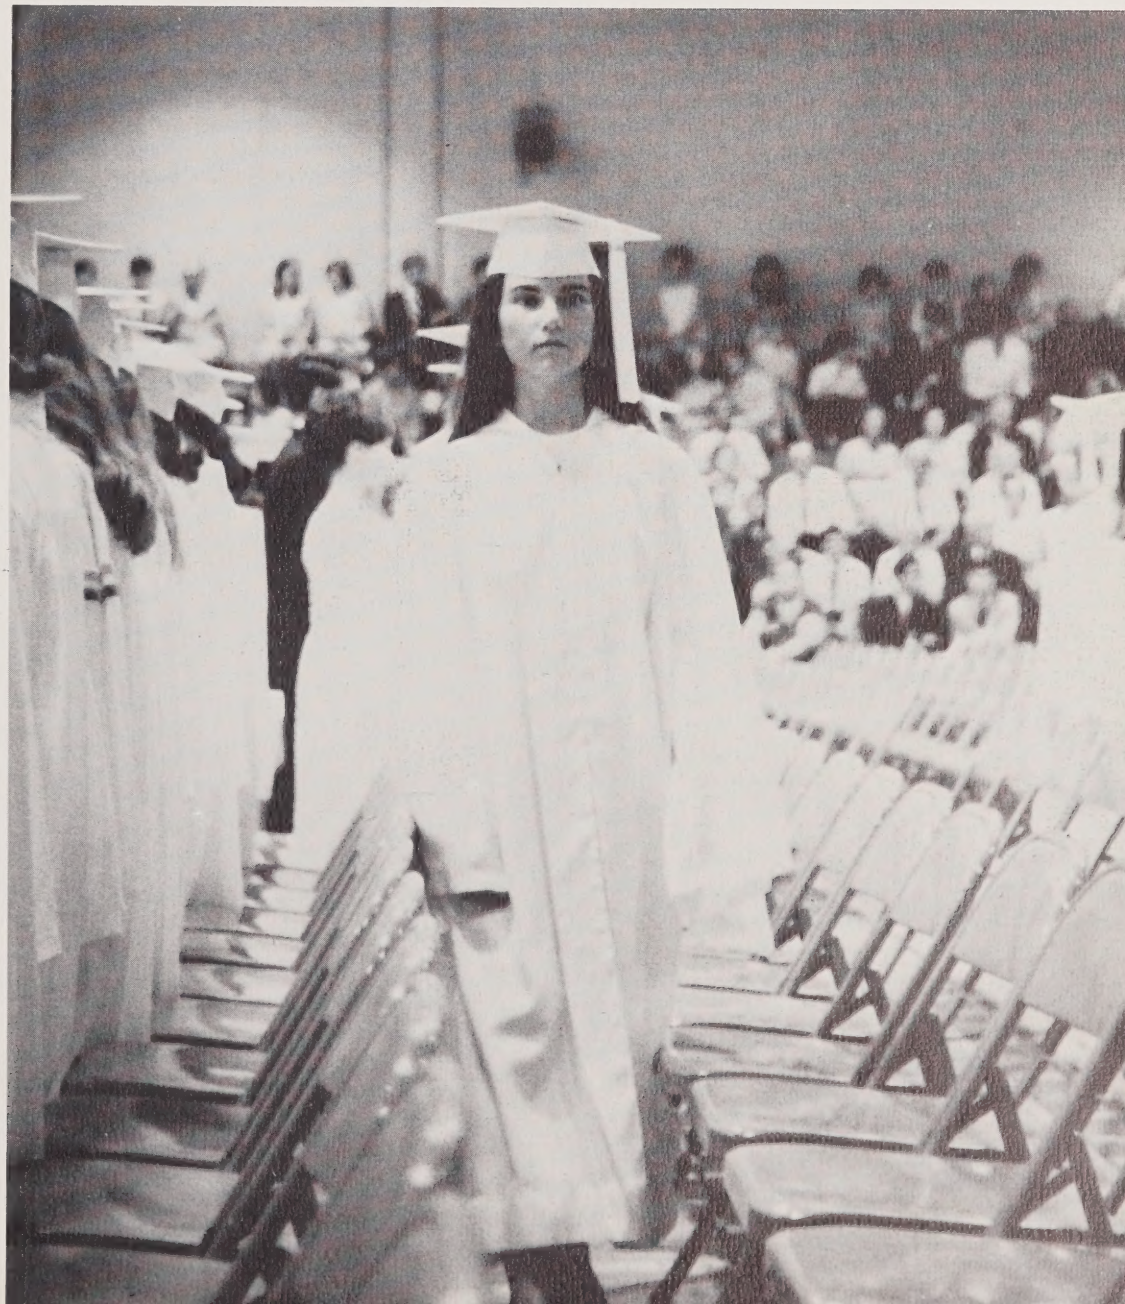
Graduation '69

The class of '69 proved their years at West had paid off by earning a total of $97,331.00 in scholarships and awards. The faculty address, prepared by Mrs. Jane Everhart, was delivered by Mrs. Maxine Mast. Student speakers were Ellie Allcorn, Mark Padgett and class president, Jeff Minick.

Trimella Wooten was awarded the Civitan award.



Again the faculty donned their academic attire for the commencement exercises.



The Class of '69 takes the final step, winding up three very successful years.

Angela Dunn is West's nominee for a Katherine Smith Reynolds scholarship to UNC-G. She was nominated by a faculty committee.

Susan Willis and Phillip Skeen spent an unusual and enriching summer attending the Governor's School. Held on the campus of Salem College, the program lasted for seven weeks. For Susan, the major area of study was French. Phillip studied history.

Nancy Alexander and Richard Robertson gave a week of their summer vacation to prepare for their upcoming duties as Student Council officers. Girls' State was held at UNC-G, and Boys' State was held at Wake Forest University.

Honored for her services to school and community, Jan Postove receives the DAR Good Citizen Award from Mrs. King.

Going to every extreme to return to West, AP students are Doug Minick, Keith Cox, Cathy Dix, Mike Nifong, John Flynt, Tom Phelps.

Arriving safely at West after their AP class at Reynolds are Phillip Skeen, Arne Laurene, Jim Shubert, Olen Stokes, and Nancy Alexander.

Veda Miller smiles happily after being crowned West's 1969 Homecoming Queen.

Wearing the coveted crown, Miss Veda Miller reigned as West's sixth Homecoming Queen. Miss Debbie Day, 1968 queen, presented the crown and traditional roses to Queen Veda.

Under the sponsorship of the Student Council, homecoming festivities began during the halftime of the football contest with High Point Andrews, Sept. 26.

For the second year, the court collectively represented the entire football team instead of individual players. The student body elected the queen from the candidates sponsored by the team. Selection of the young lady for this honor remained an absolute secret until Sept. 26, when the sealed envelope was extracted from the principal's pocket.

Neil Caudle, composed Master of Ceremonies, introduced the fifteen members of the court at the game and again at the dance.

The Titanides were responsible for arrangements for the gala dance for which the Sacred Irony provided the music.

"While visions of sugar plums danced in their heads" provided the theme for the annual Christmas dance. Candy-striped walls, stockings hanging by the fireplace, and a shimmering tree transformed the gym into a holiday dreamland.

The Blenders combo pleased the dancers with a combination of music and entertainment.

The crowning of Jan Postove as the 1969 Yule Queen marked the high point of the festivities. Escorted by Richard Robertson, Jan received the crown from last year's queen, Becky Gobble.

"Ya' gotta hit, and ya' gotta hit hard! . . . Stay outta that three second lane, and watch those fouls! . . . Girls, Don't carry that ball!" Such are the emphatic orders and often pleas of the coaches during practice. Beginning in late summer, practices run continuously through the year. All Titans have a chance to participate in team sports. Football, speedball, basketball, baseball, and softball provide the experience of learning to be part of a team. A chance for more individual recognition can be found in tennis, track, and golf.

Only half of the Titan team goes onto the field, or the court to meet the opponents. The other half is in the stands. The support and spirit of the Titan spectators reverberate through the stands. Each class is always trying to out yell the others. Yet, when the time is running out, it's that final quarter with only a few seconds left, and when the next play could tip the crucial balance between victory and defeat, the yells of the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors simultaneously mount into a thunderous, united "C'mon West!"

With all the pre-game preparation, the emphasis is not only on developing a physical readiness, but also a mental toughness and determination. It is with this emphasis that each team member goes out on the field, the court, the track, or the mat to meet his opponent, saying, "I think we can!"

Titans win '69 opener 16-14

A Williams' pass to Fulton, a 91-yard scamper by J. Swajkoski in the Eastern Alamance game started the '69 season for the Titans on a winning note. Two 2-point conversions pushed the Titans by the Eagles, 16-14.

One win behind, they began the second game with a power that seemed to be an upset-in-the making over Parkland. However, Parkland scored two quick touchdowns before the first half ended and one more as soon as the second half began. Hawkins salvaged 6 points on a 4-yard run in the third quarter and prevented a shutout.

West got back on the winning side by defeating Anderson, 20-18. Three touchdowns came on three passes from Williams to Swajkoski, speedy West back. Sustaining injuries in the Reynolds game, West could not put together a drive for a win. Griggs played a fine defensive game, blocking three Demons' extra-point attempts. Webster caught a TD pass from Williams, and the Titans had a two-point conversion, but the score favored Reynolds, 26-8.

The loss to Andrews ruined Homecoming. West bowed to the rampaging Raiders, 40-6.

Injuries took their toll, eliminating West from the win column for three straight games. Although losing to East 26-8, Cline scored from two yards out. In the loss to Atkins 48-6, Hawkins scored a 4-yard plunge. Fulton and Boyle scored West's TD's, but Mt. Tabor won.

West got back in the win column with a shutout victory over Bartlett-Yancey, 28-0. Hawkins scored twice on short runs; Jones picked up one on an 18-yard run; and Fulton, subbing as quarterback, dived over the goal from 1-yard out.

Closing the season with North Forsyth, the Titans fielded without five former starters. The vikings spooked West on Halloween, with Boyle scoring West's TD.

West finished the season with a 3-7 record.

J.V.'s shut out

The Titan Toddlers racked up two big wins this year, one over Reynolds and one over North. The junior varsity dumped the Demons 12-0, and shut out the Vikings, 6-0.

Mr. Byron Lawson and Mr. Louis Newton rode hard on the J.V.'s this year. Under their direction, the boys worked hard and built themselves into a strong, unified team.

The junior varsity played their afternoon games with a fervor and effort that paid off by giving them two big wins with four losses.

Gould is top runner

"I'd walk a million miles for Coach Mascott," said the cross country boys, "but he makes us run that far."

This year's harriers ran mile after mile under the guidance of their new coach, Thomas Mascott. Neither rain, nor sleet, nor hail could stop the West Forsyth Team from making their appointed rounds on the 2.2 mile West course. Mascott timed the runners over hills, through woods, and on paved and unpaved routes.

Compiling a reputable 7-4 record for the season, West placed second in the county. Two meets were held at West and in one of those meets, the Team came in first in a tri-meet with North Forsyth and Greensboro Page. Other teams that the speedy Titans passed were Parkland, High Point Central, and High Point Andrews.

Jim Gould was the top man on the team. Jim placed first in the home meet that West won. His time for the 2.2 mile course was 11:23. Other strong runners this year were Jim Shubert and Edwin Robey.

Besides the regular schedule of meets, Coach Mascott entered the boys in the Wake Forest Invitational and the conference and sectional meets.

"It's a long way to Tipperary and the finish line's not very close."

"When the big hand is on the five and the little hand is on the six . . . " Coach Thomas Mascott checks the stop watch with manager Tim Watts.

"Aw, c'mon, Jim. Can't we stop for a minute?" begs Mr. Mascott, but Jim is wound up: "No, coach we've got to keep running."

Opening the season with wins over Anderson and East, the speedball team went on for a 5-2 record.

A strong defense made way for scorers like Donna Black, Marjorie Nash and Jo Ann Disher.

Under the coaching of Miss Norma Jean Harbin, the girls totaled 94 points while holding their opponents to only 34 points.

With a 5-2 record, the girls' speedball team ended the season in third place in the county. First row: Susan Culler, manager; Susan Alexander, Donna Black, co-captain; JoAnn Disher, co-captain; Nancy Doherty, Gail Stewart, scorekeeper. Second row: Janice Harper, Sheila Arney, Karen Vreeland, Allison Haynes, Pam Conrad, Kay Richardson. Third row: Gurland McBride, Sandy Booker, Donna West, Myrna Latten, Kathy Jones. Fourth row: Judy Nixon, Paula Beauchamp, Donna Everhart, Debbie Bryant, Sharon Bryant, Debbie Quick, Fifth row: Diane Stockert, Marjorie Nash, Terri Moser, Becky Thomas, Cathy Rogers.

Early in the season Titan hoopsters posted victories over North Wilkes and Bishop McGuinness, and two conference wins over East Forsyth.

In the first East game, the Titans totaled 89 points to set a new school record for points scored in one game. It was also in the same game that Robert Fulton scored 39 points to set a new individual scoring record. Not long after the East game, Robert passed the 1000 point mark for his career at West.

Other stand outs were Mark Gunderson, a newcomer, and Ricky Fulton. In the front court, it was Steve Carter and Jay Cline.

Mr. Marcus Allred, head coach, was assisted by Mr. Byron Lawson and Mr. Swandell Cloud.

The Titans played eleven games on their home court this year, and at each game the Titan supporters turned out to fill the bleachers.

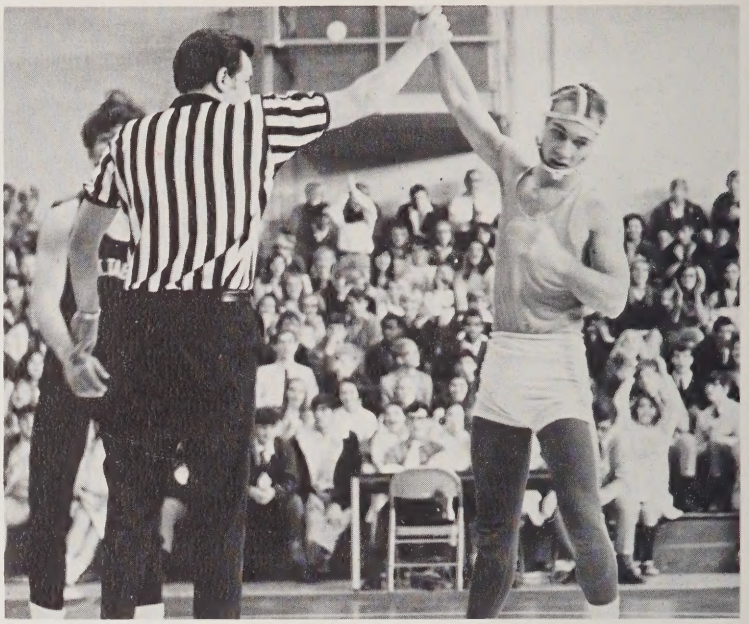
"Bridge", "Stack him", "Pin him", or "Shoot-the-half." If one has trouble understanding these technical terms of wrestling, just ask one of the Titan grapplers, and if he doesn't tell you, maybe he'll show you!

The Titan wrestlers showed their great determination and strength by compiling a season record of 12 wins and 6 losses under the guidance and coaching skills of Mr. Ken Harper and his assistant Mr. Louis Newton.

After competing in the 4-A sectionals at Reynolds, co-captain Lindsay Miller advanced to state finals where he placed fourth in the state.

During the season, West wrestlers also received team-of-the-week honors, a designation made by the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel.



Another familiar sight at West in wrestling—Lindsay Miller is once more triumphant over his opponent.

Giving instructions to their wrestlers from the sidelines are assistant coach Louis Newton and head coach Ken Harper.

D. Black is named to all county team

The 1969-70 Girls' basketball team finished the season with an overall record of 10 conference wins and 4 losses. With this record, the girls placed third in the county.

The 18 girl team averaged 33 points per game. Donna Black, high scorer, averaged 12 points while Florence Spease and Meena Wooters each averaged 6 points a game.

One of the most important games to the team is against their archrival, North Forsyth.

West shaded out the Vikings, 26-25 in one of the most exciting games of the season. Another high point of the season came in the Parkland game when West outscored the Mustangs by 24 points, 36-12.

It was during the game with Parkland that Donna Black demonstrated the outstanding skill that later got her named to the all county girls' basketball team by pumping in a total of 18 points.

The girls' Titan booster was their coach, Miss Norma Jean Harbin.

Successful JV teamwork makes best season yet!

The '69-70 Titan JV's posted the second winning season in the history of West's JV basketball. By defeating teams such as Reynolds and Atkins, the Baby Titans showed they were out to win. They ended the season with an overall record of 11-10.

A good zone defense along with some fine rebounding were two important assets to the Titans. The JV's also proved to be fine shooters by averaging 61.3 points a game in regular season play. High scorers were Tim Huff with an 18.9 average and Richard Giles with 14.1.

Championship Game: North 4, West 2

West won 11 games while losing 7 during the 1969 season. In conference play, the Titans won 8 and lost 3.

Leading hitters were Neville Chaney, Robert Fulton, and Keith Lawson.

The team had a .928 fielding average and they collected 136 hits and 105 runs while giving up 102 hits and 62 runs.

Robert Fulton led the team batting with 3 homeruns.

Tim Gurganus compiled the top Titan pitching record with 4 wins and 3 losses. Neville Chaney was 3-3, Steve Carter 2-0, Jim Hunt 1-0, and Sonny Williams 1-2. Chaney struck out 57 of the 248 batters he faced.

One of the outstanding plays of the season came in the Page game when Otis Smith displayed some brilliant footwork between first and second base. While Page was preoccupied with Smith, Jim Hunt was able to score the winning run.

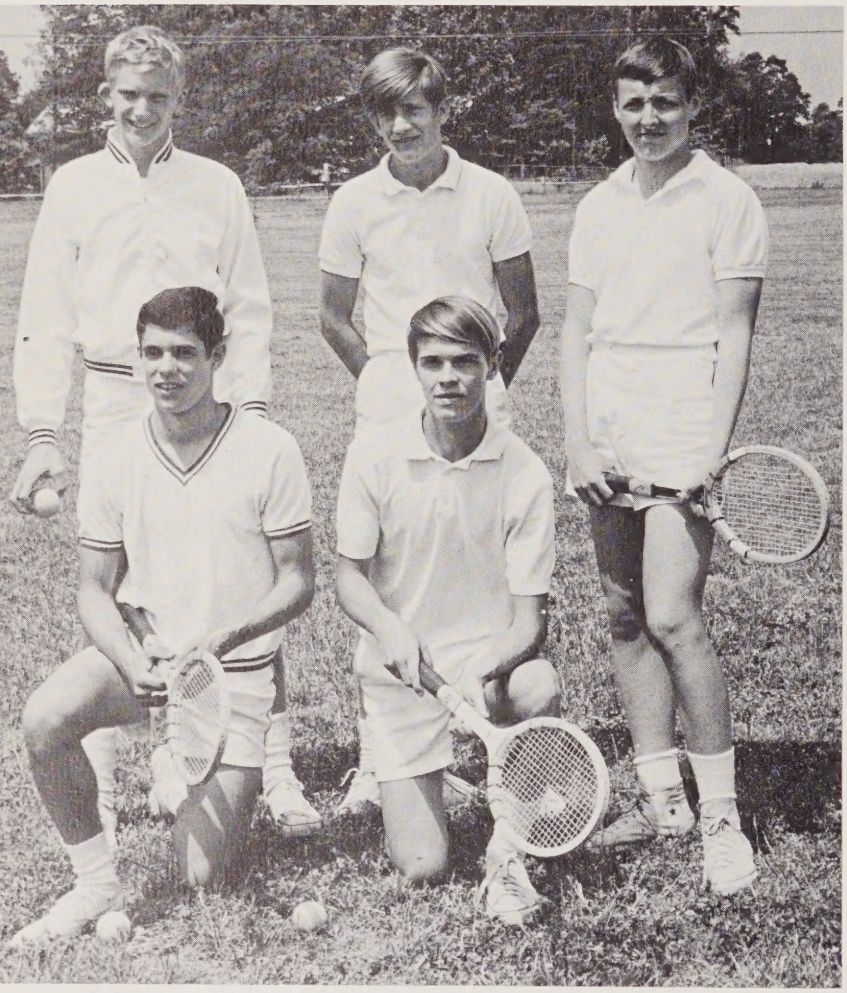
West joins netters

White uniforms, dirty sneakers and smudged tennis balls were the marks of players of West's first tennis team. Although West's netters posted a 0-7 season, Coach Ralph Royster led his beginning team against such formidable opponents as North, Reynolds, Parkland, Mt. Tabor and Atkins.

Fred Flynt led with three winning matches. Jim Shubert and Jack Boyle had 2 wins and Bill Hardy 1. Two doubles teams, Fred Flynt-Jack Boyle and Jim Shubert-Bill Hardy, advanced to second in the East Sectionals. Jim Shubert played so vigorously that he broke his racket!



Having no home court, the newest addition to West's sports roster had to practice and play on clay courts in the area. Tight schedules and uncooperative weather plagued the players. Kneeling: Jack Boyle, Fred Flynt. Standing: Arne Laurene, Bill Hardy, Jim Shubert. (Absent, Paul Chandler)

Golfers earn 5th place in conference

West Forsyth golfers completed the '69 season with a solid fifth place standing in the conference. The six-man team played consistently in competition over local courses including Grandview (home course), Winston Lake, Reynolds Park, and Boonville.

Mr. Jim Mast, golf coach, supervises Jeff Ritz as he addresses the ball. Pat Smith, Mike Waller and Donnie Scales observe the procedure with mixed reactions.

"Got that spirit?" J.V.'s do!

Pat James makes the most from a good basketball play and boosts the team to go further.

"Have you got that spirit?" The J.V. cheerleading squad does. Beginning in the summer, these seven ambitious girls prepared for games by making new uniforms, buying new letters, and getting plenty of practice.

The Annual Green-Gold football game was the squad's first appearance. They cheered at J.V. football and basketball games, pep rallies and at the Homecoming game. During the varsity football games the girls sold programs to raise money. At the end of the football season, the J.V. girls gave the team cupcakes.

Throughout the year, the seven enthusiastic girls strived to develop original cheers and add as much pep as possible at games.

Sponsoring these girls is Mrs. Ann Ferrell.

"Beat 'em. Beat 'em. You know we'll defeat them!!" Shouts of confidence come from joyous cheerleaders, Pam Tuttle, Pat James, Nancy Brawley and Cindy Fowler.

Always cheerful, the JV cheerleaders stay ready to exert the extra effort for Titans. In Two Bits formation are Bonnie Gabard, Kim Lyons, Pam Tuttle, Nancy Brawley, chief; Pat James, co-chief; Denise Wall, and Cindy Fowler.

Perfect timing and co-ordination makes the '70 J.V. girls perform their best.

"That's it boys. Get the ball!" Denise Wall yells morale boosting calls to the Varsity players during Homecoming game. Cindy Fowler agrees.

Practice makes almost perfect for J.V. girls who practice diligently.

End of football season brings special cupcakes to the JV players. Coach Lawson and Newton accept the goodies to distribute to the boys.

Volleyball team posts 6-1 record

Green shirts and red hands were two familiar sights as the '69 girls' volleyball team posted a 6-1 season, losing only to North Forsyth.

Even though the 23 girls did not secure first place, they were proud to claim second high in the county while winning matches over East, Parkland, Reynolds, Children's Home, Anderson, and Mt. Tabor.

High scorers were Karen Keyser, Alice Coffey, Becky Williams, and Florence Spease.

Becky was voted most valuable player while the best sports honor went to Tommie Moffitt.

Miss Norma Jean Harbin (right), coach of volleyball, has a solid back-up crew of managers, statisticians, and scorekeepers. Susan Culler, Tonyia Minish, Becky Thomas, Nancy Doherty, Cathy Rogers.

Being victorious in all of their games, the 1969 Girls' softball team had a perfect record in regular season play.

The West girls played two games each with teams from Carver and arch-rival North Forsyth.

The female Titans scored 101 runs, 12 of which were homeruns batted in.

A 51-16 win over Carver was their biggest margin of victory for the season.

Becky Williams, Alice Coffey, and Debbie Bryant were the season's high scorers.

West won the District I title, but lost to Parkland in the district play-offs.

Bolick and Gould

The West Forsyth Track team participated in a total of seven meets during the 1969 season. The Titan tracksters ran in meets at North Forsyth, East Forsyth, the Duke-Durham Relays in Durham, the City-County meet, the 4-A conference meet, and the Sectional meet.
During the season, West played host to two of the meets.

Jim Gould led the Titan distance runners during the season. Jim was one of the top men in the county in the mile run. Jim's time for the mile steadily dwindled. Then, with a time of 4 minutes, 35.2 seconds, Jim set a school record in the mile in the county meet.

Buddy Bolick was one of the most outstanding members of the 1969 team. He set school records in a 100-yard dash with a time of 9.8 seconds, the 220-yard dash with a time of 21.8 seconds and the 440-yard dash with a time of 52.9 seconds. Buddy also set a county record in the 220-yard dash by winning the race in a time of 21.8 seconds. He captured the state sectional record in the 220 with a first place time of 22.4 seconds. Buddy took home a bronze medal from the Duke-Durham Relay by placing third in the 100-yard dash.

Tom McKay is completely relaxed as he awaits the starter's gun for the 800.

Spirit of '70 proves theory: Titans on top!

Everyone looks to a Varsity cheerleader for spirit and this year, spirit has been the word to describe the squad. Mrs. Ann Ferrell, sponsor of these energetic girls, constantly reminds the girls to smile and to get response from the crowd.

Chief Veda Miller and co-chief Jill Miller spent a week at St. Andrews College learning new tricks of the trade. Original skits, ideas from camp, brought laughter to pep rallies during the football and basketball season. Spirit Week started the 70's with a bang, evoking competition among Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Green Thumb Day achieved the most turn out of spirit during the year.

Other projects through the year such as serving the football players fruit juice, sponsoring dances, pep rallies, and cheering in the candy campaign are being tackled by the squad of spirit boosters who have tremendous smiles and hearts full of effort.

Forming a ring of smiles are varsity cheerleaders Marsha Clarke, GeeGee Grant, Marty Ayers, Jill Miller, Veda Miller, Joy Hester, Beth Alspaugh, Carolyn Stanley.

Smiling and full of joy, chief Veda Miller stands ready to cheer.

Jill Miller, (co-chief) and Jane Reisenweaver, Titan cheerleaders, happily prove West is Best.

"Let's go Titans!" shout Joy Hester and Carolyn Stanley as they prepare to lead the Titan victory yells.

Vivacious and ready to cheer at any time, Marsha Clarke and Beth Alspaugh willingly boost West's spirit.

"We're ready to fight and ready to win!" declare Marty Ayers and GeeGee Grant.

Emphasis is put on student involvement, because it is through the doors of active involvement of many students that outstanding, well-rounded individuals emerge.

Never before has West offered her students so many outlets for their creative talents, or special interests. The 1969-70 school year brought with it the addition of several new groups.

The interests of the students plus the opportunity supplied by the school are the keys to the involvement at West Forsyth. Whether a Titan has a special talent or is just interested in school and community, he has a chance for recognition and self-satisfaction in one of West's many organizations.

Emphasis on Involvement

operates under new constitution

Operating under a new constitution, the Student Council for 69-70 was the epitome of changes at West Forsyth. The new document gave students the privilege of electing representatives from the membership of the homerooms rather than from membership of the classes at large.

Officers of the council were the only members elected in the spring of '69. These officers were Richard Robertson, president; Buddy Bolick, vice-president; Betsy Carter, secretary; Nancy Alexander, treasurer. The officers attended summer workshops and the North Carolina Student Council Congress in Raleigh.

The council sought to involve the entire student body in its activities. Representatives gave homerooms the agenda for the pending meetings, giving each group a chance to instruct the action of the representative. Following the meeting, minutes were read and posted in the homerooms.

Numerous functions of the organization placed Council members as heads of committees, but the membership of the committees came from the entire student body. Chairmen and their specific responsibilities were these: advisory, Richard Robertson; assembly, Frankie Hunter; awards and scholarship, Kim Underwood; building and grounds, Rob Slater; bulletin board, Marty Ayers; constitution, Buddy Bolick; evaluation, Mary Rodgers and Larry Benfield; election, Frank Denaro, Cam Kirk, John Swajkoski; finance, Nancy Alexander; inter-club, Mark Wilson; membership, Pam Richards; publicity, Betsy Carter; social, Jan Postove and Vicki McNeil.

At induction Lindsay Miller sings as Donna Black accompanies him.

NHS makes new stoles

New stoles of blue and gold, colors of the National Honor Society, added a new emphasis to the impressive black robes. The stoles were made by the members of the NHS prior to the first induction in the fall.

Pervading silence, the impressive black robes, and the gasps accompanied by the occasional sympathetic laughs set the scene for the NHS tapping ceremony during which twenty-nine new members were inducted, bringing the membership to forty-nine - the largest ever.

Applying the qualities which gave them membership, members of the society took on the tasks of distributing yearly honor roll emblems, and making quarterly honor roll tags.

Before being rechartered, the NHS made several amendments to its constitution concerning membership eligibility and dues. Then, in the spring a project was held to raise money for the annual scholarship awarded by the society. Jim Herman was the winner of last year's scholarship.

Tapped into the National Honor Society at the fall induction, new members more than doubled the membership. First row: Dianne Gabard, Julianna Rinehart, Jane Reisenweaver, Betsy Carter, Susan Culler, Cathy Rodgers; Second row: Joy Hester, Claire Owens, Linda Craft, Sandra Mock, Janice Shoaf, Sandra Vogler, Donna West; Third row: Larry Benfield, John Swajkoski, Jack Boyle, Barry Orrell, Kim Underwood, Randy Grimes, Ken Slate; Fourth row: Richard Robertson, Keith Bridges, Monte Plott, John Flynt, Frankie Hunter, Jim Gould, Steve Jones, Phillip Skeen. (Absent: JoAnn Disher)

"Will the meeting please come to order!" bellows president Steve Carter amid the shouts and laughter which fill the air as the jovial yet hard-working Key Club gathers for a meeting.

Although at times the Key Club appears care-free it has conducted many useful projects. One of the most meaningful was the Christmas party for needy children. Randy Grimes, who looked more like Mrs. Claus than Santa, distributed gifts.

Each month the bachelor fathers send money to Shin Jung Oh, a Korean adopted by the club. This money provides Jung Oh with clothes, food and schooling.

Early this year, Key Clubbers collected money for the National Guardsmen's Assistance Fund, a community money-raising event to assist families of guardsmen burned in the Armory explosion. Working in teams, the Key Clubbers collected money for the Mothers' March of Dimes, distributed and collected bags for Goodwill.

Boys will be boys when it's Christmas and there are toys.

Library Club issues services

Issuing books, preparing display cases and bulletin boards, and checking library passes are among the valuable contributions of the Library Club members.

To celebrate book week, the club entertained the faculty and exhibited books which had been purchased by a special donation.

One of the highlights in the year comes when members of the club attend the State Library convention in Durham, where they exchange ideas mixing business with pleasure.

Jewell Wilmoth and Tim Bennett were delegates to the library convention at North Forsyth on October 18.

Placing books on shelves in the library as part of their service contribution are Bruce Sanspree, Jan Hunt, Phyllis Loftin, Anita Raby, Robin Hauser, Ronda Needham, Jewell Wilmoth.

FTA begins Teacher of the Month award

All work and no play makes teacher a pedagogue. The Future Teachers of America have taken special precautions to guard against this happening to any of West's teachers! The FTA entertains the teachers once a month with a coffee hour.

Making tags for the teachers during National Education Week, checking papers and performing other time-consuming duties for teachers are a few ways in which FTA members demonstrate service while satisfying and developing their own interests and skills as future teachers.

Keeping pace with the changing year the FTA'ers brought many new ideas to the club, one of which was a "teacher of the month" program. The members of the club recognized a teacher each month on the basis of his contributions to the school.

Marking red x's on students' papers is not the fun some people think it is. Pam Elliott, Susan Baity, Phyllis Loftin, Gay Dull, Margil Conrad.

FTAers are helpful teacher aids: they grade papers. Debbie Craft, Donna Hauser, Karen O'Linn, Betsy Bailey.

Officers of the FTA prepare to serve coffee to teachers as they come in from the early morning cold. Ruth Hagaman, secretary-treasurer; Mary Ann Mock, vice-president; Amy Hagaman, president. Mrs. Harriet Binkley is advisor.

Cronus reflects

"Change it!" was the repetitious plea of staff editors of the Cronus, and the staff complied by making numerous changes in the 1970 Cronus: more pages, striking cover design and some fascinating new additions. All these innovations reflected the changing pace of the school.

One of the major changes occurred in the preparation of the yearbook. This year the production became an extra-curricular project instead of an assignment of the Journalism class. Members of the staff slaved many hours as they tortured their brains for the most effective phrases and plagued the photographer for the best shots.

Capturing first place for captions in the N.C. Press Institute competition, the 1969 Cronus will also be entered in the SIPA (Southern Interscholastic Press Association) judging held in Athens, Georgia, in March.

Caught smiling, Susan Willis, editor-in-chief of the Cronus, admits this was her last smile until the '70 edition went to the publisher.

Pam Beroth and Betsy Bailey, editors of the sophomore section, never really realized there were so many sophomores until they tried to get pictures!

A ten-page paper sometimes seems like twenty pages to these girls who are responsible for the arduous typing tasks. Ginny Hayworth, Kay Huff, Teresa Roberts.

Changing from mimeograph to offset was only one change that occurred in the West Zephyr this year. Another asset to offset was the addition of pictures. For the first time in several years the Zephyr portrayed student life and current school news by the use of pictures. Professional, block-style headlines, another innovation, gave a more newspaper like appearance.

The staff produced the paper as an extracurricular activity instead of as a journalism class product as had been done for two years.

Given to all students, the Zephyr appeared every three weeks.

When everyone else is heaving a sigh of relief because they have handed in their assignments, these workers have just begun their work. They handle the typing of news and features. Leslie Caldwell, Donna Branon, Larry Benfield.

A new dimension given to high school theatre

"David and Lisa", a new concept in high school theater, was the major dramatics production in the Spring. For the first time, the stage moved to the floor with the audience seated on three sides to create the theatre-in-the-round. The Berkley School, an institution for emotionally disturbed adolescents, was the setting for the play. David (Billy Waters) and Lisa (Julianna Rinehart) are under the care and guidance of Dr. Alan Swinford (Reggie Combs). Together David and Lisa achieve emotional stability.

Twenty-two males and two females composed the cast of the fall production, "Girl of the Golden West." The outstanding sets of Frank Rice provided the background for the riotous yet touching western. The Girl (Beth Mitchell), the lone woman in a gold mining camp, was mother, companion, and teacher for all the boys in the camp. Jack Rance (Bolton Yarbrough), the county sheriff, and Dick Johnson (Dallas Cline) sought to marry the Girl.

Reading for parts, practicing scenes, constructing sets, sewing costumes, and applying makeup exacted long hours and hard work for all involved in production of plays. Competition is keen for parts in the play which attracts would-be actors from drama classes and entire student body. However, the Drama Department manages the behind-the-scene work such as advertising, lighting, and costuming.

In addition to the major spring and fall plays, the drama students produce one-act plays and conduct a workshop in the Spring. Mrs. Maxine Perdue directs these activities.

Pep Club labors to produce

Observing Wade Long, C.L. Gobble, and Mike Dixon mount a sign are Debbie Ayers, Phyllis Barrett, Beverly Kirkman, Cindy Williams, Dena Stokes, Monica Scott, Gaye Dull, Margil Conrad.

Fun work is the achievement of the Pep Club, for they promote school spirit, a vital aspect of West.

Large green, white and gold signs which plaster the halls of West are the workmanship of this club who not only advertise the games but also show confidence in West's athletes.

On the day of a game, spirit tags are sold and cars decorated. Then as game time nears, a crowd of students swarm around the activity buses decked out in flowing streamers and over-size banners. Excitement mounts as these buses roll out. Loud chants, rousing cheers and peppy songs signal their approach to enemy territory.

Sitting together at games, this club can create quite a clamor with their thunderous voices, clanging cowbells and mighty yells of "West is Best!"

Instilling active support for events at the school, Pep Club members encourage the purchase of spirit tags. Majorettes enjoy new witch attire

"Delightfully hard work" accurately describes the practices of West's high-stepping majorettes. This year-round job starts with tryouts in the spring and continues with many muscle-pulling practices during which the ten majorettes concentrate on choreographing and learning new routines.

Marching onto the field to the strains of "Those Were The Days" and "Comedy Tonight," the majorettes added an extra spark to the halftime shows especially when twirling their fire batons. The majorettes also performed at pep rallies during both the football and basketball seasons.

Pointed black hats, trimmed in orange, and black skirts helped put the students into the proper spirit during a Halloween pep rally.

Contributing to game-day fever, the majorettes joined the parade of Titan boosters by wearing their new gold jumpers with green monograms.

Marching Band thrills spectators

With its first appearance, the Marching Band thrilled the spectators. And all year long the band continued to draw favorable comments as they performed at school and community events.

Immensely popular at school, the Pep Band plays for assemblies and pep rallies. Gaining recognition outside the school, the musicians give concerts, and perform in parades, at football games and for special college events.

The highlight of the year for the West Forsyth Band was its performance at the principals' conference held this fall at the Convention Center.

Under the direction of their Band Master, Mr. John Foreman, and Drum Major, Florence Spease, the band practiced many hours to perfect both the music and formations. Second semester director was Mr. Harry Wheeler.

In short, the band represents and exemplifies West Forsyth.

perform at six football games

With high steps, pointed toes and swinging arms, sixty-five Titanides marched onto the field during halftime at six football games.

Excitement surged through the crowds as the girls began a routine which had been practiced dutifully for six weeks or more. The resounding applause from the spectators made all those early, summer morning practices worthwhile.

Precision kicks and catchy turns characterized the six new routines learned by the team to synchronize with such tunes as "Lime House Blues" and Give My Regards to Broadway."

Sales from a carload of doughnuts enabled them to buy props, including hats and canes, which brightened up the costumes. Additional Drill Team performances gave zest to pep rallies and basketball games.

June Taylor, do you need any talented girls who are graceful and beautiful?

Students exhibit interest in science

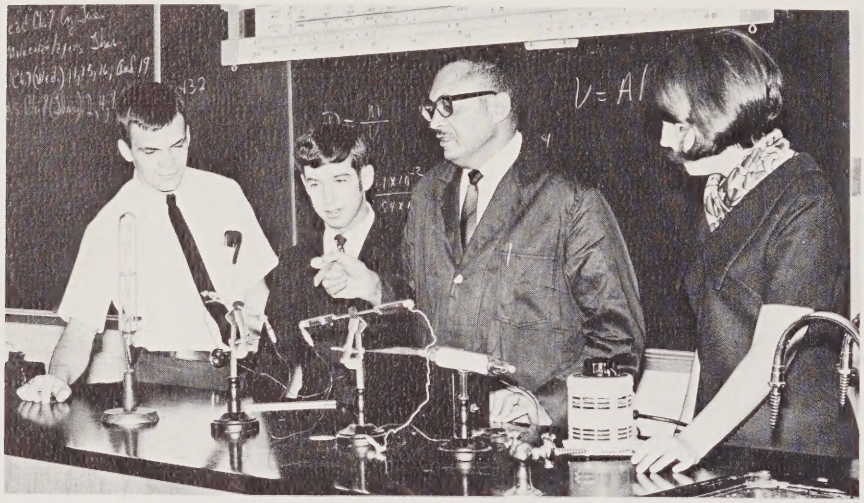
Field trips and discussions highlight the Junior Engineer and Science Club meetings.

Western Electric was the site of one of their field trips where they observed the lab and workrooms.

Many meetings involved the planning and organizing of a weekend trip in March to Greenville, North Carolina, to gaze at the eclipse of the sun.

Since the members desire to continue their interest in scientific issues, they share ideas and visions during spirited discussions at the meetings. Mr. Fred Parker is the advisor.

Mr. Fred Parker (center) advisor, explains an experiment to club officers. Ronnie Spach, president; Wesley Wagoner, vice-president; Cheryl Marceau, secretary-treasurer.



David Prudhomme, Jamie Crosswell, Kyle Greenwood, James Bryant and Phillip Skeen take inventory of chemicals in the storeroom in the science building.

Members listen attentively to a guest speaker at a club meeting.

Olen Stokes and Robert Hudgins wash some equipment for the science department.

Le Cercle Francais is new club

Ici on parle Francais. And in Le Cercle Francais, club members conduct meetings in French.

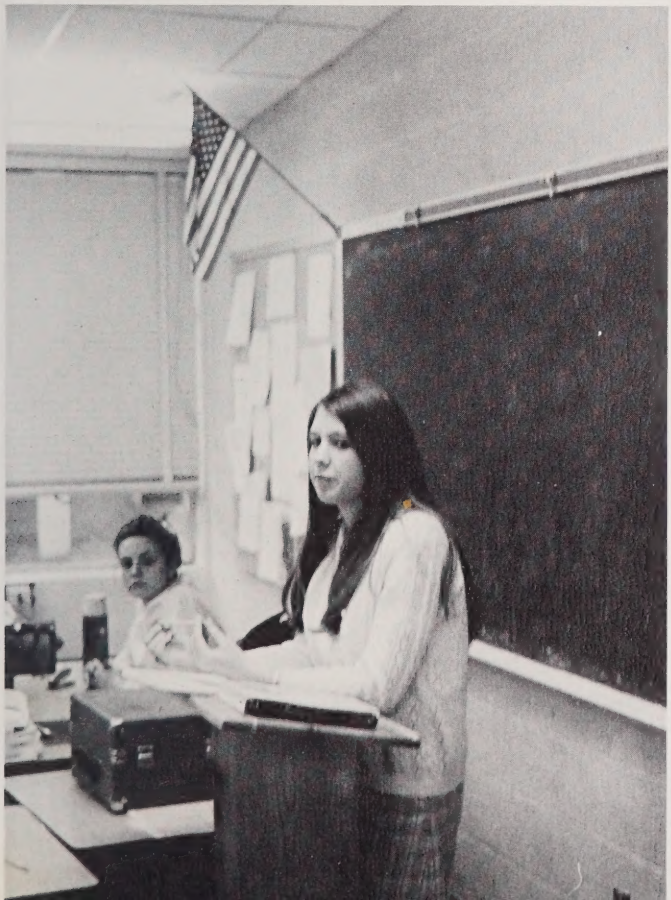
Even though the French Club was not chartered until November, it went into action quickly. By December the club had officers and a project, learning French Christmas carols. With the help of their advisor, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smyth, they sang these carols during Christmas at the Clemmons Nursing Home and at the homes of Mrs. Lane, a former French teacher, and Mr. Simpson, West's principal.

Members have planned several projects to achieve their aims: to create an interest in and to gain a knowledge of the French language and French-speaking peoples.

Establishing a French tutoring system, getting acquainted with French exchange students at Wake Forest, and performing French skits and plays present ways to fulfill their objectives. Plans also include a French picnic and a visit to a French restaurant.

French Club members sing French Christmas carols. Diane Stockert, Sandra Pinnix, Regina Daniel, George Wackerhagen, Cathy Huston, Ronnie Hamrick, Karen Griggs.

Members read the latest editions of "Match," a French magazine. Ann Beeding, Lou Ann Flynt, Bonnie Keyser, Tina Dampier, Patty Dunn.



Mrs. Mary Ellen Smyth assists French Club officers in preparing correspondence for their pen pal. Robert Hudgins, vice-president; Penny Minick, Treasurer; and Celeste Joyner, secretary.

Lynne Keller, president, leads a meeting in French.

FFA prunes shrubs

Caring for shrubbery, studying wildlife and playing basketball composed parts of the program of the Future Farmers of America.

The FFA gives "tender, loving care" to the shrubbery at West. Members replace, trim and shape shrubbery. And they are always on call to doctor ailing soil and plants. In addition they help with the building and placing of fences for the football and baseball fields.

In their study of wildlife, they observed birds and animals in their natural habitats in this area.

Team work carries over to the FFA basketball team, the West group being champions of the county.

Selling mixed nuts helped raise money for the FFA week at White Lake and the participation in soil judging contests throughout the state.

If there are scenery changes of the landscape at West, it's a sure bet that the FFA had a part in it.

Elizabeth Browning and Robin Newell taste the nuts being sold by the FFA before purchasing them from Paul Stewart.

FTA officers preside at the regular monthly meetings. Fred Thompson, reporter; Van Williams, vice-president; Lee Hicks, Sentinel; Ronnie Spach, president; Sammy Carriker, secretary; Marion Conrad, treasurer.

Bobby Fisher demonstrates the art of welding to Wayne Hutchins, Dallas Cline, Lee Myers, Danny Culverhouse, Bill Myers, Butch Robertson, Mike Hicks, Steve Lawing, David Cook, Gary Vance.

FFAers keep West in trim condition by pruning shrubbery and pulling weeds. Doug Brandon, Ricky Boger, Dean Phillips, Clay Vogler, Benny Forrest, Richard Conrad, Kim Riddle, Cliff Darnell, Byron Tesh, Wayne Hutchins, Ferral Kiger, David Sink, Paul Stewart.

FHA does its own thing

"Do Your Own Thing" was the theme for West F.H.A. booth at the Dixie Classic Fair in October. For the display the girls transformed boxes and cans into useful articles. Twenty-five girls dressed dolls for the fair with three of them, Becky Thomas, Darlene Lovern, and Robin Newell, receiving first place awards.

In early December, the girls turned the Home Economics room into a party room when they entertained Senior Citizens at a Christmas party. Decorations, refreshments, and prizes were the creations of the club members.

Susan Dickerson was elected State Historian at the State Convention in Greensboro. Also at the convention, several delegates modeled clothes from the RFD in Clemmons.

Marsha Conrad was winner of the Betty Crocker Award and entered State competition for this event.

Mrs. Gail Hodges and Miss Sally Huffman are advisors for the group.

These FHAers are choosing sportswear, dress-ups and lounge wear for modeling at the FHA fashion show.

FHA officers are wondering how they got KP. Beth Bates, secretary; Nada Wishon, committees; Linda Craft, vice-president; Angela Dunn, president.

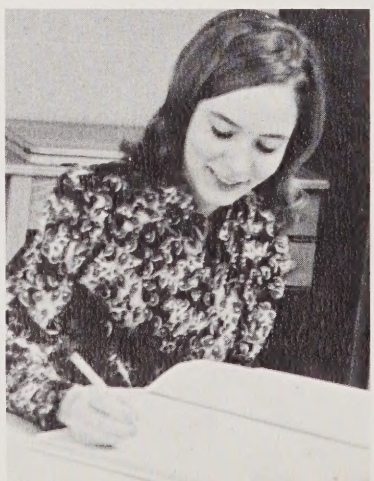
Susan Dickerson was elected State Historian at the State FHA rally.



FHA members making decorations for their Senior Citizens Christmas party are June Weatherman, Wanda Scott, Beth Rice, Debbie Craft. Watching and learning are Ginny Hayworth, Marsha Conrad, Becky Wolfe, Jan Postove, Marie Austin, Lola Barber, Linda Crater, Yvonne Bodsford.

D.E. students take that "extra step"

One step ahead! - and that step is the pace of the students of the Distributive Education Club. These students go to school and also have part-time jobs, that extra step.

Safe driving is the emphasis this year in the club. Seniors and juniors conducted a survey on the hazards of driving, court cases, number of wrecks, number of students who have cars, and the number of parents who pay for their children's cars.

Delegates from West's D.E. club attended the District Contest Convention in February, the State Leadership Convention, and the National Convention which was held in Minnesota in April.

Debbie Smith, Sears Foundation Award winner, and Carol Cooper have afternoon jobs at the Retail Credit Bureau.

Skilled work attracts VICA students

Skilled work interests many students at West, and they have the opportunity to develop this mental acquisitiveness through VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America.

In the afternoons, club members practice specialized trades. These apprenticeships require from two to five years to complete before the students become licensed.

Citizenship dominates the organization since VICA members become vital assets in the community. Promoting a phase of community life, a cook-out in the fall stimulated friendship and involvement.

County, district, state and national conferences offer opportunities to learn and socialize. Competition at these conference draws entrants in job interviews, contests and talent shows.

Programs this year focused on public safety and internal and domestic affairs.

Club sponsors are Mr. Charles Giles and Mr. George Ernst.

VICA officers examine magazines for job opportunities. Windy Carroll, secretary; Gary Taylor, treasurer; Charles Fry, historian; Thurman Jarvis, editor; Denny Everhart, president; John Wall, vice-president.

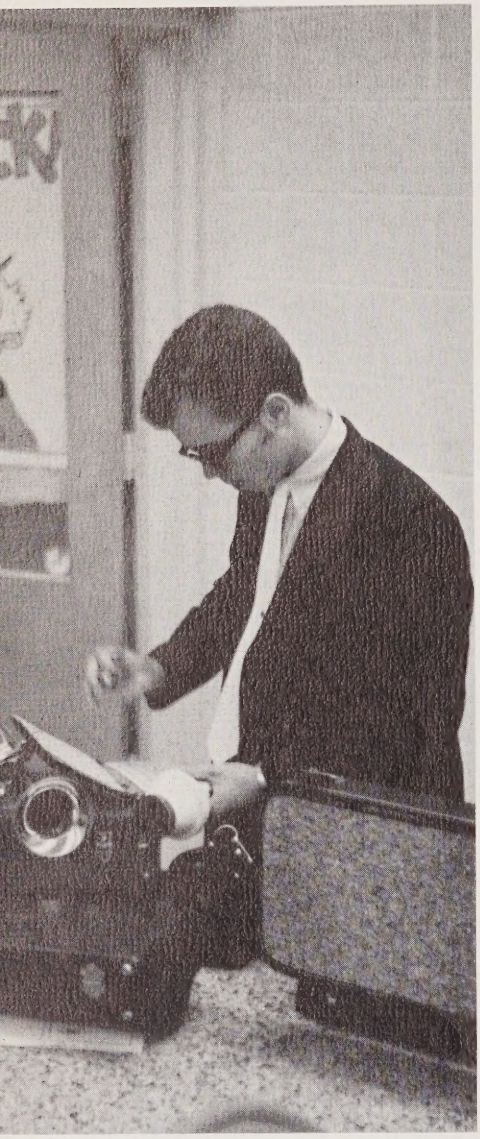
Stage Band rocks



Bill Ward practices his rendition of "1 / 2 & 3 & 4."

Think band is a boring experience? Well, members of the West Stage Band do not because to be in the Stage Band is one of the greatest achievements for a music student at West.

Auditions in the fall determine the coveted positions in the seventeen-member group. After many rehearsals, the group performs at the Spring Concert and the Wake Forest Annual Stage Band clinic. If you catch the follies, you will see most of the group in the pit band, supplying the backup music for the singers and acts that require musical background.

The Stage Band does not limit itself to one form of music. They play just about any form of music desired—blues, jazz, pop tunes, and even an occasional "oldie."

Mr. John Foreman conducted for first semester, and Mr. Harry Wheeler was director second semester.

Mike Mock makes preparation for a performance.

Mr. Harry Wheeler directs the Stage Band after school and at night.

Choral students form Mesistersingers

Twenty-two students composed the Meistersingers of the music department. Made up of the best of West's choral students, the Special Chorus had special selections in its repertoire.

Although not an organized club, the chorus rehearsed after school. The singers performed at the Christmas and Spring Concerts and were available for special invitations.

Mr. John Foreman directed the group for the first semester and Mr. Wheeler had charge for the second semester.

At the Christmas concert, Amy Hagaman, honor soloist, sings "O Holy Night."

Meistersingers give their first performance of the year at the Christmas concert.

Girls compete actively

Points and sportsmanship are emphasized by this organization, the Girls' Athletic Association. Points earned by involvement in sports, intra mural or varsity, determine membership. After admittance to the club additional points specify the ones to attend Play Day in Greensboro, where statewide GAA's compete. Both membership and Play Day are highly sought after honors.

Sportsmanship is stressed in intramural sports. Any girl in the school may participate in speedball, basketball, softball, free exercise and ping pong intra-murals.

Doughnuts were sold to raise money for the GAA scholarship which is awarded to a senior GAA member to further her education. Last year's winner of the scholarship was Alice Coffey. The club also sponsors a sports roundup where local junior high school girls participate in events directed by this organization.

Energetic Miss Norma Jean Harbin keeps firm hands on the GAA.

Accumulating points in Junior High, sophomores may automatically become GAA members. First row: Billie Jones, Terri Moser, Debbie Giles, Beth Lamberti, Sharon Bryant. Second row: Donna Conrad, Anne Boyles, Garland McBride, Chris Boyer, Pam Conrad, Myrna Latten.

Officers of the GAA manage all the activities of the organization. Florence Spease, president; Loretta Tucker, treasurer; JoAnn Disher, point recorder, Mitzi Griffin, publicity; Cathy Rogers, secretary; Donna Black, vice-president.

West Has Lots of Green Thumbs

Listening to lectures, reasoning- both deductively and inductively- in geometry, searching for that word or idea in English, these are the challenges Titans face everyday. A Titan is faced with many new ideas and concepts. He may take them, use them, expand them, question them - or ignore them.

Sports, interest groups, and student government beckon Titans to become involved, to be a part of the whole. All West's students want to be considered as individuals. Being an individual is important, but only when it serves as initiative for one to do his part for total achievement.

A mass of distinct individuals that merge to form one entity - the student body of West Forsyth.

Emphasis on Individuals

Seniors choose Convention Center

Class officers Dale Windsor, treasurer; Bob Binkley, president, Lee Crowe, vice-president, and Lisa Transou, secretary display the flag of '70.

Abandoning tradition by choosing the Winston-Salem Convention Center for graduation, the Class of '70 exhibited the spirit of change. With emphasis on spirit, leadership, and accomplishment, the Class of '70 has made its years at West a cavalcade of success! Led by Bobby Binkley in their Sophomore year, Skipper Lawing in their Junior year, and Bobby Binkley again their Senior year, members of this class have continuously striven to bring about change in student government, organizations, and other facets of student life.

Always emphasizing class spirit, and working together, the class of '70 has managed to be an important instrument in wielding changes.

Selling more candy than any other class as Sophomores, and stringing more cans of peas and corn as Juniors to capture first place in Spirit Week are just a few examples of the over-abounding spirit possessed by this class.

Achieving seniority and still leading the way, the class of '70 became even more active in sports as both participants and spectators, interest groups, and plays.

Seniors brought recognition to their school, and to themselves when six were chosen as Morehead nominees, two of whom advanced to semi-finals, and when 26 were chosen as Honor graduates.

Walking into assembly for the first time as Seniors, receiving the all important class rings, and then ordering of invitations for graduation were the final steps in the realization that they had reached the long awaited rank of seniors!

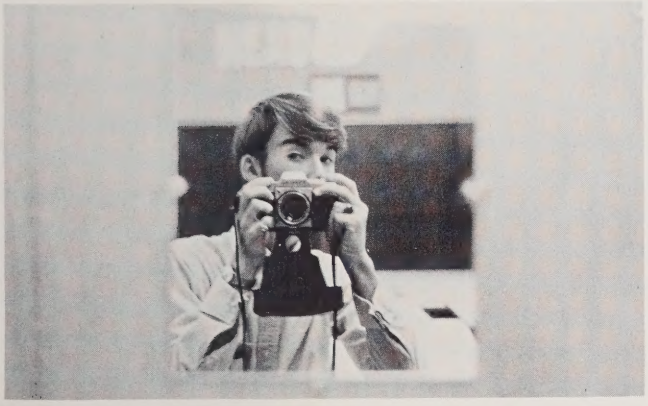
Seniors prepare for graduation

Pat Smith was a barrel of laughs as Sidney Duck in Girl of the Golden West, the fall dramatics production.

Who says boys don't gossip? Keith Cox describes the latest dope to Neil Caudle, Buddy Bolick, Rob Slater, and Ronnie Hamrick.



Kirk Vernon decided to take his own graduation pictures.

Linda Craft, Sonny Williams, Sandra Vogler, Bobby Binkley, and Jan Postove check the fit of their graduation robes.

Grimes, Slate,

The most difficult year of school is the junior year, or so the Junior Class thinks. With chemical formulas, algebraic functions, team teaching for history, and demanding language assignments, the Class of 71 is certain that this change in pace is the most challenging in the entire school.

Another noticeable change is in the extra-curricular activities in which the not-so-green Titans accepted additional responsibilities. Their experience in the previous year has prepared them for these duties which they vigorously executed.

Juniors eagerly collected money for the Prom by selling candy and play tickets. In the scholastic area, fourteen Juniors gained membership in the National Honor Society in the fall induction. College board and National Merit tests brought many students to the cold gym on Saturdays.

Mrs. Jane Everhart was chairman of the sponsors for the first semester, and Miss Mary Currin was chairman for the second semester.

Junior Class officers take a break from their duties of guiding the Class of '71. Randy Grimes, president, quenches his thirst while the other class officers patiently wait their turn. Ken Slate, vice-president; Penny Minick, secretary; Barry Orrell, treasurer.

These Junior representatives to the Student Council help homerooms air grievances and opinions. Claire Owens, Kim Underwood, Suzanne Rawls, Pam Richards, Frankie Hunter, Cathy Zafoot. (Absent, Susan Dickerson)

Largest Sophomore Class faces

This was really a year of change for the class of '72. Free lunch periods and the new study hall regulations gave sophomores a feeling of more freedom. The new driv-o-cater machine made the driver's training course the most interesting ever. The largest sophomore class faced other changes—longer and fewer periods, double-period schedule, team teaching, bi-weekly assembly periods, new clubs and new courses.

Study halls gave the newcomers to West more time to participate in clubs, sports, and other extra-curricular activities. Sophomore boys were active in football, basketball, cross-country, and wrestling, a few making the varsity football and basketball teams. Sports were not limited to the boys, for the girls joined in varsity and intramural speedball and basketball.

Clubs gained many new talented members, the sophomores. These enthusiastic students even organized a new club. Some helped to publish the Zephyr and Cronus. Others acted in plays.

Sophomores also joined in school politics and class fund-raising projects. Student Council representatives participated actively on committees and in projects. Candidates for class officers worked hard on their campaigns, displaying posters on every available door and wall.

The lowest-ranking class rose to the highest-ranking by selling 49% of the candy, raking in $853.20.

Academically, sophomores did well. A large number of them made each quarterly honor roll.

This has been a year of change, a change for the better.

Class officers have keen interest in leading the Class of '72. Peggy Rice, secretary; Mark Postove, president; Edwin Robey, vice-president; Cheryl Marceau, treasurer.

Instilling a love of knowledge and challenging each student to develop to his full potential, the faculty of West Forsyth faces each day and each change with enthusiasm.

Full of spirit and drive, they are willing to go that extra mile to make their special subjects more appealing. Inspiring young artists, encouraging individual creativity, developing tomorrow's mathematicians, and relating the past with the present, the faculty has but one interest at heart — the students.

Emphasis on Professorate

High Command

Experience, understanding and good humor make Mr. Harold Simpson an excellent principal. He not only works hard in the office, but also involves himself with the affairs of the students and faculty. Mr. Simpson and his yardstick thump over the campus and measure the best marks for West.

The activities of Mr. Bill Holliday at West include checking absentees, advising the Key Club and managing the buses and their drivers. Under his supervision, the candy sales reached the highest mark of profits for the school.

Without the services of Mrs. Irene Harper and Mrs. Betty Johnson, a panic would hit the office. They type letters and memos, answer the phone, make announcements and issue excuses. Smiling, pleasant yet firmly gentle, these two make up an impressive front office.

Problems of all kinds confront the guidance office. Mr. Marcus Allred and Miss Rosalie Adams help students with problems in school adjustment and school work. They also answer questions about colleges and scholarships and administer tests, such as Merit Scholarship, PSAT and NEDT. Mr. Allred, calm and witty, coaches varsity basketball and baseball. Miss Adams' delightful sense of humor draws students to her office for a friendly chat as well as for a serious conference.

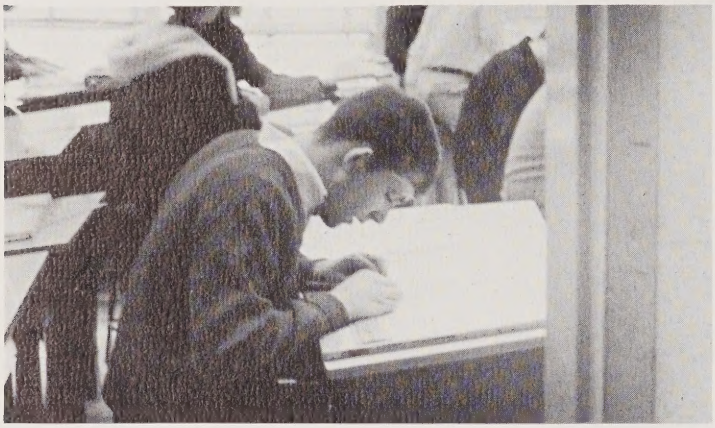
Secretarial work for the guidance office is the specialty of Mrs. Mildred Furches. Besides typing papers for the counselors, she distributes pamphlets for tests, keeps the guidance bulletin board up to date, and smiles a warm greeting to shy students.

The library is the place to visit for all kinds of reading material. With the help of Mrs. Mary Vance, librarian, student or teacher can find books and magazines for pleasure or study. Assisting in the library, Mrs. Lou Harper is always willing to help in finding the desired material.

Spotlight on Creativity

Building I has become the headquarters of creativity. Mrs. Lyna Lou VanWageningen, art teacher, and Mr. Edward Sugg, mechanical drawing and woodworking instructor, guide students selecting careers in drawing. Mrs. Van inspires free, artistic expression and stimulates her Art 1,2,3, and 4 classes. The art classroom and exhibits at the school are positive proof of the excellent talent in art at West.

Mr. Sugg has expanded mechanical drawing interest. He watches the future architects at work with three-dimensional objects, and in third-year drawing, students design houses. The buzz of saws in the shop are would-be carpenters at work in woodworking classes. Some of the projects have been distributed to other classrooms.



"I keep telling myself that someday I'll make it to the top of the architectural world, but now I'm not so sure!"

Company officials can watch out for the bookkeeping students of Mrs. Iris Bridges, for these students learn how to keep accurate records of business affairs. She also teaches typing, an important related skill for bookkeeping. Junior marshals depend on Mrs. Bridges for instructions and advice.

Shorthand, the easy answer to machine-gun lecturers, is among the specialties of Mrs. Dorothy Russell who also teaches typing, companion course for shorthand. These inseparable skills attract numerous students to the classes of the competent Mrs. Russell.

Mrs. Beverly Norman's first year at West is full of variety with classes in bookkeeping, typing and mathematics. Having no room as a home base, she carries her desk around with her. Her cheerful roaming is a familiar sight.

From Mrs. Audrey Crater's room come the rhythmic clicks of busy fingers on typewriters. Her instructions in typing and office practices prepare ambitious commercial students for the business world of tomorrow.

The whirring of sewing machines from Mrs. Gail Hodges' room indicates that her home economic students have discovered that a little knowledge of sewing can be expanded to advanced sewing. Future cooks also learn to prepare better meals, and they store many helpful hints of a successful homemaker. Mrs. Hodges, new to West this year, is co-sponsor of the F.H.A.

Delectable smells seep from the room of Miss Sally Huffman who gives culinary hints to both boys and girls. In Advanced Home Economics, girls enjoy exploring home life. In Boys Home Ec, the males find it a thrill to try to be a chef or tailor. Miss Huffman also lends her talents to the F.H.A., which she co-sponsors.

Field trips and outside speakers are special attractions in Mrs. Margaret McLeod's Everyday Government and Family Living classes. U.S. History is also worked into her busy schedule.

"We sell success"

"Students are my business," says Mrs. Juanita Bowser who teaches distributive education students how to become tops in their field. She visits the stores where her students are employed and grades their quality of work according to knowledge learned in class. The Distributive Education Clubs of America (D.E.C.A) Club, the extra-curricular organization of D.E. students, has Mrs. Bowser as sponsor.

I.C.T. (Industrial Cooperative Training) has two teachers, Mr. Charles Giles and Mr. George Ernst. They pound essentials of on-the-job training into the minds of their students. Then the students are able to be apprentices while they learn a life-long trade.

Energetic Mr. Giles jogs over the campus on many errands while Mr. Ernst, new to West this year, strides along in his amiable way. Mr. Giles and Mr. Ernst share the sponsorship of I.C.T. and Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA). Mr. Ernst is also part of the triumvirate adult leadership of the Key Club.

Coaching and teaching go together for Mr. Fred Gragg, Mr. Kenneth Harper, and Mr. Lewis Newton. Mr. Gragg strives to win in all fields including biology, JV football and JV baseball.

Mr. Newton exercises physically and mentally in his teaching duties as physical education and biology instructor. After class he joins the sports roundup as assistant coach for football and wrestling and as head track coach.

Overseer Harper leaves his mark on all who struggle under his supervision in Human Anatomy and Physiology and physical education classes. He also keeps the boys running when he coaches football and wrestling.

Sliderules and microscopes are necessary instruments in the science department for Mrs. Mary Berridge, Miss Frances Cook, and Mr. Fred Parker.

Mrs. Berridge is known for her hard tests and gentle ways. She teaches Chemistry, Advanced Biology, and modern biology.

The personality of Miss Cook makes her a favorite among students even though her tests are murder. Besides teaching BSCS and general biology, Miss Cook prods the senior class as sponsor.

Chemistry and physics are Mr. Parker's specialties. A trusty brief case accompanies Mr. Parker to class, and after class he sponsors the Jr. Engineer and Science Club.

Emphasis on numbers,

Although Mrs. Bonnie Green teaches only half a day this year, she keeps busy with her three classes—fourth-year math, calculus and Algebra II. After school Mrs. Green advises the National Honor Society.

Joining the faculty after first semester, Mrs. Gladys Crane quickly adjusted to West and classes of Algebra I. She also teaches half a day.

During first semester, Mrs. June West was instructor in geometry, general math and Algebra I.

Mrs. Jane Timmerman began the first semester as a half-day teacher in mathematics, but she joined the staff full time at the beginning of second semester. Students trying to pass her classes would be wise to apply this equation: T + S x E = S (Timmerman plus students multiplied by effort equals success).

Mrs. Nancy White, a favorite of all her students, is a newcomer at West. She competently handles classes in Algebra I,II, and III.

"Number" has two definitions for Miss Mary Currin. She constantly uses numbers in her classes of general math, geometry, Algebra II, and fourth-year math; and, as sponsor of the drill team, Miss Currin works with the girls in preparing numbers to perform at football and basketball games.

Understanding and patience are two assets of Mrs. Maxine Perdue who teaches Dramatics I and II and geometry. As advisor for the dramatics productions, Mrs. Perdue enthusiastically continues class instructions in dramatics to long, but satisfying after-school hours.

Another refreshing newcomer in the mathematics departmer is Miss Joan Wise who has classes in general math, geometry and Algebra I.

From prehistoric man to the space man, the History Department presents all aspects of the story of man. Mrs. Harriett Binkley, noted for her erudite lectures, teaches European and U.S. history. Leading other students by her teaching example, Mrs. Binkley serves as advisor of the Future Teachers of America Club.

Combining athletics with history, both dealing with actions of man, Mr. Byron Lawson spends a full day at West. After classes of European and U.S. history, he is on the ball with coaching duties in football, basketball and baseball.

Discussions of ideologies and current affairs mark Mr. Frank Robinson's formal-informal classes. Mr. Robinson not only spurs questions concerning world activities of today, but he also extracts details concerning past events.

Always ready with a witty remark, Mr. James Mast directs his history classes as competently as he directs athletics for the school. In addition to being athletic director, Mr. Mast swings with the golf team who steadily follow his coaching.

The Now Generation means safety

A jovial pull of the ear is a familiar reminder for mistakes by in-car drivers while driving with Mr. Worth Seats. But his students learn to be safe, defensive drivers with their knowledge from class training and experience in the car.

Safety is important business to Mr. Harold Miller, also a driver education instructor. He constantly reminds students both in car and in class of the responsibility of every driver when under the wheel of a car. His drills have been very effective in promoting correct driving habits of his students.

At the beginning of second semester, six new teachers transferred to West. Mr. Harry Wheeler, who now supervises all phases of music, has an A.B. degree from Fisk University and a M.M. from N.Y.U. Mrs. Evelyn Cabbell, general biology teacher, has a B.S. degree from Hampton Institute and a M.A. from North Carolina A. & T. U. Also a graduate of N.C. A&T, with a B.S. degree, Mr. Clifton Matthews is D.E. coordinator. Mrs. Mimi Dennis, librarian, has a B.A. degree from North Carolina Central University. Driver education instructor, Mr. Swandell Cloud has a B.A. degree from St. Augustine. Mrs. Lelia Fulton, teaching in Junior English, was graduated from Hampton Institute with a B.S. degree. Shortly after the arrival of these six, the Student Council gave an after-school tea honoring new teachers.

Mrs. Margaret King

U.N.C.-Greensboro, A.B.

Miss Ruth Farthing

Appalachian State University, B.S.

Miss Jane Starnes

Sophomores find it a new day when they enter Miss Ruth Farthing's English classes. Miss Farthing makes grammar, book reports, short stories and Julius Caesar an important part of every Sophomore's life. Poetry has a special spot in Room 408.

Collaborating to write a novel, Seniors in Mr. Paul Darden's classes quickly discover they must master his instruction in grammar and punctuation. Although his Junior classes did not write a novel, they spent much time in studying the novel as well as other types of American literature.

As a newcomer to West, Miss Jane Starnes found herself without a room to call her own. Having classes in both Sophomore and Junior English, Miss Starnes migrates from room to room and transports her materials in a box.

Charm, poise and versatility are only three of the characteristics of Mrs. Margaret King, English II teacher. Under Mrs. King's guidance, students enrich their vocabulary, experiment with writing, and discover joy in reading.

Juniors learn the real meaning of life in Mrs. Jane Everhart's classes. Studying the works of several American authors provide students with representative examples of human nature. Walden, The Scarlet Letter and Our Town are a few selections that students read and study to search for the different human emotions in individuals. Overseeing and suggesting ideas for the Class of '71 is also the job of Mrs. Everhart as Junior sponsor.

Famed American authors and poets become familiar persons in Mrs. Juanita Clarke's English III classes. Writers in Advanced Composition and Creative Writing search for theme and original story ideas. Mrs. Clarke doubles ad advisor of the Cronus and Zephyr.

Seniors realize the importance of vocabulary and words in English IV with Mrs. Maxine Mast. Grammar, literature, mythology, short stories and writing demand the attention of the seniors who look forward to Mrs. Mast's dramatization of Lady Macbeth.

In their last year of English at West, Mr. James Anderson's senior students participate in numerous outside related trips. His involvement with youth carries over in his new job this year as advisor of the Student Council.

Skits, parties, records, and clubs have added excitement to the foreign language department. Mrs. Ann Ferrell and Mr. Thomas Mascott coordinated a Spanish party to promote interest in their classes. All students studying Spanish participated in skits, readings, and the breaking open of a handmade pinata. Besides teaching Spanish, Mrs. Ferrell sponsors varsity and JV cheerleaders. In addition to teaching Spanish and English, Mr. Mascott runs with the boys as coach of the cross country team.

A newcomer at West is Miss Barbara McGill who teaches French and Latin. Through her instruction, Miss McGill has proved that studying Latin and French is the best way to learn English.

Agreeing to serve as advisor, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smyth backed the organizing of the first French Club at West, "Le Cercle Francais. Students in Mrs. Smyth's room, 401, study French I,II, and IV.

Building Six is never silent

Miss Norma Jean Harbin

Appalachian State University, B.S.
Physical Education

Petticoat Junction, here we come! Whoo–Whoo!" Miss Harbin sings and dances in her classes.

Sounds of silence are definitely missing in building 6. First there is the music room, the home of West's Music Man, Mr. John Foreman, who gives instruction in all phases of music. The band rings out clear, strong melodies, the chorus sings out with vibrant voices, and the music theory classes slave many hours perfecting their original scores. After school, Mr. Foreman directs his special advanced students in the Meistersingers, a special chorus group, and the stage band. The Marching Band and Majorettes are also sponsored by Mr. Foreman.

In the gym, Miss Norma Jean Harbin gets rid of the "little extra" that many high school girls have. The physical education classes learn the plays and rules of girls' sports and enjoy interesting units such as dancing, jazz, rhythm, ping-pong, tumbling and gymnastics. Miss Harbin also sponsors the Girls' Athletic Association (G.A.A.) and coaches all varsity girls' sports.

Down in the shop, Mr. Tom Pratt teaches the fundamentals of agriculture to the students interested in growing plants. He demonstrates films in class. Some classes take care of the existing shrubbery and plant new trees on the West campus. Mr. Pratt also leads these ambitious young men in an after-school club, the Future Farmers of America (F.F.A.).

Lunch: fat time of day

Mission Impossible: feeding 1100 students in an hour and a half. But for the WFCS force (West Forsyth Cafeteria Staff) this feat can be accomplished. Each day around noon flocks of hungry Titans enter the lunchroom to buy plate lunches, hot dogs, hamburgers, and a multitude of tempting desserts. The ten who compose the cafeteria staff are Mrs. Edna Binkley, manager; Mrs. Sadie McNeill, Mrs. Hazel Jones, Mrs. Mary Atkins, Mrs. Vivian Evans, Mrs. Betty Dull, Mrs. Claudia Holder, Mrs. Vera Maynard,Mrs. Mozelle Disher, and Mrs. Lib Miller.

"One hamburger coming up!"

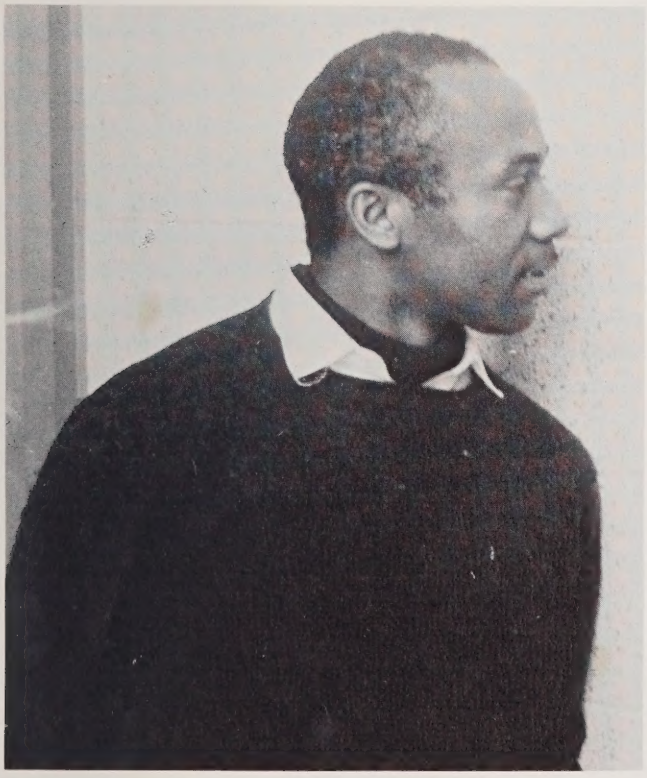
"Didn't you find that funny, Mr. Simpson?"

Trash is not a simple headache

Keeping the grounds and buildings free from litter is the job of the janitorial staff. West's three janitors, Jeremiah Johnson, Leo Evans and Charles McFadden sweep and burn trash. Seeing that the restrooms are clean is one of the responsibilities of the maids, Mrs. Catherine Hill, Mrs. Beverly Conrad and Mrs. Thomasina Hawkins. To show the school's appreciation to these worthy people, the Student Council presented them with Christmas gifts.

The broom symbolizes cleanliness for Leo Evans.

"WELL, I guess kids will be kids," laughs Mrs. Hawkins.



Charles McFadden keeps his eyes open for litter.

Mrs. Conrad smiles with the thought of today being Friday.

Starting each new day with devotions are members of the Campus Life Club. (seated) Jewell Wilmoth, Sybil Miller. (Standing) Judy Scott, Martha Robbins.

1970 - the changing year was a year to be remembered by all. The changes you have made on West, on others - on yourself will not soon be forgotten. High School is a time for change.

Change is the center of this moving world. Things will go on changing . . . everything changes.

Years from now you will look back, and you will remember West Forsyth . . . the good times . . . the bad times . . . the heartaches . . . and the triumphs. Nothing can change these memories . . . no, not even time. The changes of the 69-70 school year are forever changeless in our minds and hearts.

We wish to express out special appreciation to Monte Plott, Kirk Vernon, Byron Hill, Mr. Clifton Matthews, and the faculty of West Forsyth for their co-operation and understanding in putting out this year book.
